ABOUT THE EAGL PROGRAM

When you're ready to position your business for success into the next decade – regardless of external pressures and economic uncertainty – it's time to shift your perspective, roll up your sleeves and take your business to the next level.

Now in its ELEVENTH year, EAGL is an executive 'mini-MBA' curriculum tailored to the nursery and greenhouse industry, led by Dr. Charlie Hall at Texas A&M University*. This University-recognized certificate program has been designed with the challenges of contemporary wholesale growing businesses in mind. For nine months, you will focus and collaborate with like-minded contemporaries to put world-class research and educational resources to work improving your company's competitive position and profitability.

EAGL is a practical curriculum, with highly interactive and personalized adult learning principles in mind. Each class has a maximum size of 10 executives, and meets four times in a year (in person), supplemented with significant webinar and assigned preparation coursework (and Zoom meetings as needed!). Throughout the year, the group becomes a peer support network – we do not accept two competitors into the same year's program to enable candor and sharing.

EAGLs also have 1:1 progress reviews with the facilitators as each participant builds and revises their own strategic plans, marketing plans and financial frameworks. Guests from your company are welcome to join you for the marketing & finance modules to facilitate transmission of principles and building effective outcomes for your company.

*EAGL graduates receive a Certificate in Applied Horticultural Business Management from Texas A&M University.

During each module, we are pleased to welcome additional guest faculty members with specific areas of expertise who provide insight from both inside and outside the commercial horticulture industry.

The program is certified by Texas A&M University and administered by MonkeyBar Management, with collaboration & insights from StandPoint.

FACULTY

Dr. Charlie Hall, EAGL's chief curriculum officer and lead strategy and finance faculty member, grew up on a nursery in Western North Carolina. An economist by training, he is currently a Professor in the Department of Horticultural Sciences at the Texas A&M University and also holder of the Ellison Chair in International Floriculture. His major areas of specialization include innovative management and marketing strategies, financial analysis and benchmarking, and the situation/outlook for nursery and greenhouse crops. He is particularly known for the enthusiasm, passion, and intensity he exhibits when speaking. Dr. Hall is an Honorary Lifetime Member of both the Texas and Tennessee Nursery and Landscape Associations, and is a past president of America in Bloom.

Kip Creel, EAGL's primary marketing faculty member, is the president and founder of StandPoint and has chief responsibility for business development, methodology and the firm's strategic planning practice. StandPoint's client base includes work with a number of significant consumer products brands including Kimberly Clark, Delta Airlines, S.C. Johnson, Scotts Miracle-Gro and many others. Kip is the foremost researcher with experience in the lawn & garden industry. He holds a bachelor's of arts in organizational behavior and statistics and a master of business administration in marketing, both from the University of Florida.

Kellee O'Reilly is the EAGL program's chief experience officer. Her company, MonkeyBar Management serves as the primary logistical point of contact for the EAGL delegates. Kellee also serves as a contributing EAGL faculty member in the areas of Leadership, Change Management, and the GALLUP® CliftonStrengths program. MonkeyBar Management is a change management consulting firm that helps clients get from where they are to where they want to be, through innovative consulting and educational program development. She has more than 20 years of connection to the commercial horticulture and agriculture industries. Kellee also facilitates/ advises a series of peer groups for garden retailers and is the co-founder of the Your MarketMetrics program.

Corey Bordine has served as one of EAGL's supporting finance faculty members since 2015, and he is passionate about helping businesses make meaningful change. He worked for The Coca-Cola Company for six years in sales for the Fountain division, and then for his family's greenhouse and retail business, Bordine's (MI). He is well versed in operational financial management, business planning and forecasting, generational planning, conflict resolution, brand management, economic analysis and the day-to-day operations of running a multi-site business. Corey holds a B.A. in Marketing from Michigan State University and a Masters of Business Administration (emphasis in Operations Management) from the University of Minnesota, and is a GALLUP® CliftonStrengths certified coach.

TUITION INVESTMENT

Like in your own businesses, the “COVID YEARS” taught us a lot of things, including how to be very flexible with our planning! In addition to adapted curriculum elements which can be delivered virtually where needed, the EAGL program now has implemented safety protocols for all of our in-person sessions. You can trust that our staff has taken every possible precaution to keep our small groups safe, while prioritizing in person educational connections.

Your $29,995 comprehensive tuition investment includes the following:

- All educational materials, 4 webinars and 4 in-person meetings
- 2-3 nights’ hotel stay at each in person module
- Transportation to/from airport (or your valet parking included) at each in person module
- Breakfast, lunch, dinner, all snacks & beverages during our in-person modules
- Access to the group’s online resource & discussion home at EAGLNetwork.com, as well as electronic copies of all curriculum materials for easy sharing within your enterprise
- Access to online Harvard Business Review interactive simulations
- 1:1 consultations with faculty members to build strategic, marketing and financial plans
- Framed certification from Texas A&M University upon program completion
- A personalized CliftonStrengths Assessment
- Access to a comprehensive online resource library of downloadable and video materials.
- Customized company performance comparison dashboard on Your MarketMetrics.

The initial deposit of $14,245 will be due upon approval of the application via check (made out to MonkeyBar Management, administrative agent for the program) or ACH / credit card (an invoice will be sent via email for secure online payment).

9 monthly installments of $1750 will be due beginning June 1, 2023, then on the first of each month thereafter, with final payment due February 1, 2024.

Approved guests (up to 2 per company) will have the option of joining the Marketing and Finance modules. Separate applications will be required for those participants. Guest tuition fees per-module are $2500 (separate room) or $1750 (in a shared room) and all of the above meeting benefits, including access to the EAGL Network community home for each module.

OUR EAGL ALUMNI NETWORK

Becoming an EAGL is becoming a part of an elite community network. We are immensely proud that EAGLs are scattered throughout the US, talented industry leaders representing virtually every segment of professional commercial horticulture: trees, shrubs, greenhouse production, breeding/licensing, distribution, young plants, perennials, native plants, grasses, and much more!

DELTA TRACK

CHANGE IS CONSTANT. ADAPTING IS OPTIONAL.

DELTA TRACK

Δ is a universal symbol for change. You'll see in our class naming structure we skipped the greek letter Delta, reserving that name as the title of our alumni gatherings when we come back together to review progress, welcome new graduates, connect and reconnect, and TRACK THE CHANGES on the horizon that will affect all of our businesses.

EAGL EXPLORATIONS TOUR SERIES

EAGL EXPLORATIONS

Periodically, we host an international EAGL EXPLORATIONS program, taking alumni (and a few invited guests) to interesting places in the world to study advances and business approaches to commercial horticulture outside the US.
